A ROUND OF TALK.

Going Back

I've enough of city style, and all that sort of thing;
I'm going back to Perkinsville, and hear the robins sing.
The drama, and them swell affairs, are pleasant-like and gay,
But still my heart keeps calling for the green and grassy way.

I've had enough of city frills; the crushing, crowded, street,
Is filled with foreign noises, and I'm fainting with the heat.
I'm going back to Perkinsville and linger there awhile
Where I'm plays all his sweetest notes, and Natures wears a smile

I've had enough of city ways; I long for something more—
I want to see the shepherd dog come bounding through the door,
And hear the neigh of Dobbin as he canters through the lot;
I reckon they've forgotten me,—but I ain't forget.

The city fever's dormant that was burning in my veins;
I'm weary of the trolley and the elevated trains;
I'm tired of the jolting crowds, and everything, I say,
I'm going back to Perkinsville—I'm going back to stay.

THE ROAD QUESTION—The Kentucky Legislature while "rambling" round considering a flood of bills with more or less or no merit at all should put in a few licks considering the question of our public roads which surely is of importance to the welfare of the entire State. So far as we have noticed no serious effort has been made to afford relief to the present conditions concerning the roads of the state. The turnpikes of the state are rapidly becoming in a deplorable condition and if nothing is done before long the next session of the Legislature two years hence, road legislation will probably be the most important business to be considered. A dispatch from Frankfort says that some remedy has been suggested in a bill introduced in the House fixing a license tax on all vehicles, whether owned or hired. This tax is graded similar to the grading for toll purposes, but the license is paid by the year. The bill was drawn by Judge Polsgrove, of Franklin, and was introduced by Representative L. F. Johnson. Judge Polsgrove drew the bill with a view to getting the matter before the House and to start what he conceived to be a much needed reform in the State. He did not claim for the bill that it was perfect or that it would meet all requirements, but he felt when it got to the committee it could be shaped up to answer a good purpose. He is now preparing a substitute bill with Senator J. W. Cammack, of Owen county. Senator Cammack has given the road question a great deal of thought and he hopes with Judge Polsgrove to get a bill that will be satisfactory to all interests and accomplish the rehabilitation of the State's pikes.

THE DOG LAW—Kentucky is in a fair way to have a dog law in spite of the opposition of owners of no account dogs, throughout the State. Representative Ed Crean has introduced a measure entitled "An act to promote the sheep industry and to provide a tax on dogs." The bill has been favorably reported and has passed the Senate and will doubtless become a law. The bill provides that every owner of a dog must be required to pay a tax of one dollar each year on the animal and the dog is to be listed for taxation each year with the assessor the same as other property. The sheriff is required to collect the tax on dogs the same as he does on other property except that he is to keep such tax as a separate fund to be used to reimburse sheep owners who may suffer the loss of sheep through the depredations of dogs. The law also provides a penalty for the refusal or failure of any dog owner to list his dog for taxation, and empowers any peace officer with authority to kill the dog allowing a fee of $1 for such duty. Sheep owners who have suffered the loss of sheep by dogs are entitled to pay for same by presenting proof of such loss to the Fiscal court. The law is similar to that in force in Indiana, Ohio and other Northern States except that in some of those States the tax is much greater generally as much as $5 for each dog. The chances are that should the bill become a law there will be a general thinning out of the dog population of Kentucky.

La Grippe and Pneumonia

Pneumonia often follows La grip but never follows the use of Foley's Honey and Tar. It cures la grippe coughs and prevents pneumonia and consumption. A. [illegible] for Foley's Honey and Tar and refu[illegible] any substitute offered. Mr. G. Va[illegible]r, 157 Osgood St. Chicago, writes. "My wife had a severe case of grippe three years ago, and it left her with a terrible cough. She tried a bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar and it gave immediate relief. A 50 cent bottle cured her cough entirely." Refuse substitutes. Sold by The Red Cross Drug Store.

A State Institute.

Farmers throughout the State may be interested in an announcement made by Commissioner of Agriculture Vreeland that during the latter part of February a State Farmers' Institute, or convention, will be held in Frankfort. The meeting will probably last three days, and during the time adresses will be made by some of the most popular lecturers from experiment stations in the country. There are fifty or more county institutes in the State and each will send from one to six delegates to the State convention. It is quite probable that the preliminary work of organizing the State Farmers' Institute will be done at Shelbyville. Prof. S. G Hopkins, of the Illinois Experiment Station, one of the most noted corn experts in the world, will lecture on corn breeding. Prof. P. G. Holden, another authority on the subject, will also be present and give some advice along this line. Prof. M. A. Scovell of the Kentucky Experiment Station and President James K. Patterson of the State College are also on the program for addresses.

Luckiest Man in Arkansas

"I am the luckiest man in Arkansas," writes H. L. Stanley of Bruno, "since the restoration of my wife's health after five years of continuous coughing and bleeding from the lungs; and I owe my good fortune to the worlds greatest medicine, Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, which I know from experience will cure consumption if taken in time. My wife improved with first bottle and twelve bottles completed the cure." Cures the worst coughs and colds or money refunded, At C. J. Haydon's drug store. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

A $1,000 Hen

Messrs. Add Stagg and Ed True attended the Poultry and Pet Stock Show in Cincinnati last week. Mr. Stagg bought a Rhode Island Red rooster and two pullets, for which he paid over $50. They are show birds and winners. The sire of this rooster is said by all to be the finest Rhode Island Red in the world, having won prizes at Madison Square, Chicago, Detroit and St. Louis. Just after Mr. Stagg bought him a man came up and offered $45 for him. He has just as good chickens at home as those that sold in Cincinnati at $15 and $20 apiece. There were over 7,000 chickens, 3,000 pigeons and 500 dogs on display. Perhaps the star of the show was a $1,000 hen, Mary E, owned by U. R. Fishel, of Hope, Ind. This hen took first prize at the World's Fair and has never been beaten. Her eggs command the price of $60 per dozen for breeding. Mr. Fisher has refused $1,000 for the hen. Mary E is a White Plymouth Rock. The largest individual fowl at the show was a bronze turkey, Ben Franklin, that weighed 52 pounds. There were ducks that weighed 12 pounds and many hens weighed as much. One lady had a prized poodle, which was in a glass case, lined with brocaded velvet and filled with eider-down. She frequently took him out and wiped his little nosey and footsies with her silk handerchief.—Harrodsburg Herald.

Ulcer of the Stomach

Ulcer of the stomach may exist for years without very marked symptoms, excepting those caused by indigestion.

In good health, the stomach resists the action of the gastric juices, but when weakened, the membrane is badly nourished and the digestive fluids act upon it as well as upon the food, keeping up until perforation of the stomach occurs. In advanced cases of ulcer of the stomach there is much discomfort after eating, with a constant gnawing sensation between meals, pain from the pit of the stomach back to the shoulder blade.

At the first symptoms of indigestion, treatment should at once be started with Mi o na. This is a scientific remedy adapted specifically to one purpose, the cure of stomach troubles. It is so uniformly successful that The Red Cross Drug Store give a signed guarantee with every 50 cent box that the money will be refunded if it does not cure.

Just in Time

When W. S. Purdy and Will Murphy reached the ford near Bradfordsville, enroute home from this city last Monday evening, they found that the heavy rain had swollen the stream so that it was beyond fording. A hurried consultation and they concluded it was safer to ride the horse across than to risk it in the buggy.

Their plan seemed a wise one until about mid-stream, when the horse got tired and decided to lie down. The two men were in serious predicament, and doubtless would have drowned had no Earnest Hartfield appeared upon the scene. By riding in the stream and allowing the unfortunate men to "hook on." to horses "fly brush," he managed to land them safely to shore. The horse that caused the the trouble also manabed to "pull for shore" when relieved of his burdon.—Leb Enterprise.

A Healing Gospel

It cured me of lame back, stiff joints, and completely phisical collapse I was so weak it took me half an hour to walk a mile. Two bottles of Electric Bitters have made me so strong I have just walked three miles in 50 minutes and feel like walking three more. It's made a new man of me." Maud on a Boom

The correspondent of the Bardstown Standard writes from Maud as follows: "Our town is on a boom. There is not a vacant house to be found, and the cry is long and loud for more houses here. We have one of the nicest surroundings for a town that can be found in the State. Our land is level with natural drainage, and the men that hold the purse strings of capital, are men of high business qualities.

Our boom in business starts from us going to get our bridge over the Beech Fork river that will give us an outlet to larger fields of wealth. This work will give the laborers employment in making our highway in better condition.

Our capitalists contemplate large improvement with the plans all laid out. In the future acompany of our best inhabitants have planned for a large brick kiln to make millions of brick to supply those who may need such material in the building of the future here.

As there is a fine prospect for a large tobacco factory to be put up soon, that will give our neighbors a market for their tobacco at home, and for quality of tobacco this county has about the best reputation in the State.

A company of enterprising men are making plans for a steam or gasoline power roller flour mill, which will add greatly to the town, with capacity of one hundred barrels per day.

We now have two general stores, one doing business from $15,000 to $20,000 a year, the other one about $1,500 a year; one carriage and blacksmith shop, doing about $10,000 business per year. We have only one doctor in our town; one church, and as fine a school as any district in the State. Last but not least, rumor says we are to have a bank, with a capital of $25,000 to put up as soon as the brick can be made to build it. An option has been made for the corner lot on Main Mill street, a very desirable place, and about the center of town."

An Ancient Razor

Mr. George Mock, of near town, has a curiosity in the way of a razor that is considerably over a century old. It was formerly owned by Col. Seay, an ancestor of Mr. Mock's who served in the Revolutionary war. Col. Seay had the razor on his person at the surrender of Lord Cornwallis. The old implement is shaped very much like a sickle, and is made of the finest steel. It still does good work and its present owner values it very highly.—Standard.

Dr. ASKINS' REMAINS.—Mrs. Maggie Parfitt, who is a daughter of the late Dr. E. D. Askins at one time a well-known practicing physician of this place and who died here 28 years ago, was here last week, Mrs. Parfitt whose home is in Louisville came here for the purpose of having her father's remains disinterred and removed to Louisville. Dr. Askins was buried on Cemetery Hill, but there had never any tombstone or marker placed at his grave. Mrs. Parfitt thought however that she would have no difficulty in locating it but on investigation found that task more difficult than at first supposed. After locating the grave as well as she could from memory, Mrs. Parfitt had an excavation made but nothing was found and it was evident that the right spot had not been located. Mrs. Parfitt was compelled to return to Louisville on Saturday, but will probably return and resume the search later on.

Narrow Escape

Hustonsville, Ky. — While crossing Hanging Fork, two miles south of Hustonville, Mr. M. J. Farris, Jr. of Danville, was thrown from a vehicle into the middle of the stream. The water was five or six feet deep and the buggy and horse were whizzed over and over in the raging waters until a shallow point in the river bed was encountered. As it happened the horse landed on his feet and the buggy in position with the wheels towards the ground. The animal walked out but little damaged. Mr. Farris swam around in the deep and swiftly running water for five or six minutes, when he succeeded in landing upon the side opposite the horse and buggy. He moved down stream to a shallow point and swam across again.

Failed

All efforts have failed to find a better remedy for coughs, colds and lung trouble than Foley's Honey and Tar. It stops the cough, heals the lungs and prevents serious results from a cold. J. N. Patterson, Nashua, Iowa, writes: "Last winter I had a bad cold on my lungs and tried at least half a dozen advertised cough medicines and had treatment from two physicians without getting any benefit. A friend recommended Foley's Honey and Tar and two thirds of a bottle cured me. I consider it the greatest cough and lung medicine in the world." Sold by the Red Cross Drug Store.

REMARKABLE FALL — John Higdon, a young man from Nelson county, who was here last week to sell his tobacco, performed a rather remarkable feat at the Hendren House on last Friday night while walking in his sleep and escaped unhurt. Higdon retired for the night in a room in the second story of the Hendren House. There is an old door leading from this room out into space or opening on an alley. The door had been barred up until recently when the bars were removed in order to allow the removal of some furniture. Higdon it seems arose at an early hour in the morning and opened the door and stepped out. The drop from the door to the hard pavement of the alley below is about fifteen feet, Higdon "woke up" when he hit the ground but was unhurt and made his way back up stairs again and was not even bruised. The incident calls to mind a similar one which however had a fatal termination which occured at the same hotel, then known as the Berry Hotel, some twelve years ago. J. Massie Warren, who lived in Nelson county near Botland, walked from a window on to the roof of a varanda and off to the ground one night and sustained injuries from which he died in a few hours.

NEW TURNPIKES—Mr. W. E. Ray, the well-known farmer of this county, who lives in the Pleasant Run neighborhood near the Marion county line was in town Saturday. Mr. Ray says that the residents of his neighborhood are feeling much elated over the prospects of a new turnpike and the possibility of a new railroad for that section. He says that Marion county has contracted to extend the Short Line turnpike a distance of about two miles to the Pleasant Run church which will be a great convenience to that neighborhood. He says that an effort will be made to get Washington county to aid in building the road on through to the Pleasant Rup turnpike thus opening up a good country and giving the farmers of that section a good turnpike to Springfield which will be of great benefit to this town. The proposed extention of the Cumberland and Northern railroad from Columbia to Lebanon on to Danville has been surveyed to pass through that section also the line of survey as laid passing through Mrs. Bosley's yard.

OFFICERS ELECTED — The stockholders of the Washington County Fair Co., held a meeting on last Saturday afternoon and elected the following officers: R. L. Litsey President, I. H. Thurman First Vice President, Vice Presidents; F. M. Campbell, W. K. Robertson, John O. Polin, M. L. Searcy, G. D. Duncan, H. M Grundy, A. B. Hundley R. H. Edelen, and H. R. Thompson. Directors were named as follows; Ben F. Simms, C. F. Bosley, J. R. Walker, T. S. Mayes, E. O. Walker, S. P. Thompson, Ben Haydon, Sam J. Anderson, Luther A. Burns, W. S. Gibbs, R. A. Noe, James S. Hays, S. M. Cecil, A. C. Kimball was elected Secretary and Treasurer. Messrs. Ben Haydon, E. O. Wolker, C F. Bosley, and A. C. Kimball were named as a committee on programs, It is the desire of the officers to have the fair this year during the last week in August and that date will probably be selected provided it will not conflict with any neighboring towns.

WASHINGTON COUNTY PUGILIST.—Our North Bend correspondent contributes the following, "While others boast of their Congressmen, ex United States Senators and other great men, we desire to finish you in this issue of the News Leader, one of the North Bend boys who has made, and is making himself famous as a pugilist of renown. The young man is a son of Zachariah Ward and Jane Ward, of "North Bend," Washington county. Fred Ward was born in 1884, was educated by your correspondent and at the High School at Peoria, Ill. His father was one of the gamest men who ever trod shoe leather in the county being able to overcome any man in this part of the State in a hand-to-hand engagement. Fred early manifested a desire for pugilism and to-day he stands the victor of ten engagements having won every fight. Young Ward's ring name is "Young Dempsey" and he has an engagement to fight in Denver, Colorado next month.

COUNTY ASSESSMENT — The Board of Tax Supervisors for the county has finished its work on the assessment for the county. The total assessed valuation for the county is fixed at $3,674,990. The amount shown by the Assessor was $3,482,315, and the amount of increase by the Board of Supervisors is $187,675 after $2,275 had been taken off after hearing from various taxpayers whose assessment had been raised. The increase as made by the Supervisors is divided as follows; on land $87,290, on town lots $10,490, on notes $736.10, on personalty $9,580.

PEARL DIVER DEAD—John Robinson, the old pearl diver who has for years been a familiar character throughout this section of the country died last week after a short illness in the poor house of Nelson county. He had been engaged in the business of searching for pearls for years and had found a number of very fine specimens in the Beech and Rolling Fork which were his favorite streams. He frequently came to Springfield and always had pearls of more or less value to sell. He was a wandering character and had no home and although he at times had money he was unable to save any. He claimed to be an ex-Confederate soldier.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dread disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials,

Palatable, strengthening and affords quick relief. Sold by all druggists.

MAUD.

January is almost gone
And yet no snow we've had,
But then old "Feb" will soon come in
Then we'll have some weather bad.

When March has come—
So has the wind and rain,
But with the April sun-kissed showers
We are glad to welcome Spring again.

After an absence of a number of weeks I am glad to be back with the News-Leader correspondents and readers. Our little town is still in a flourishing condition, but as "Red Fox" gave such a glowing description of it and its inhabitants in the last weeks Standard. I shall not at tempt anything of that kind.

One of our champion story tellers told us the following tale the other evening and was voted the prize: He says a number of years since he owned a horse which in some way caught a sore back. One day this particular horse was resting under the shade of an acorn tree, when an acorn fell upon this sore and adhered to it and finally grew to a tree which bore acorns. When ever the hogs were to be fed someone would only have to get a whip after the horse which would naturally run and in so doing would shake the acorns off for the hogs. Everyone stopped after this.

Miss Lydia Virgin entered the Nelson Normal school at Bardstown the first of last week.

Mrs. Ella Taylor, was in Bardstown one day last week visiting her son who is in school under Prof. Crawford. We are glad to learn that the school is in such a flourishing condition

What has become of our Mooreville brother? Why is he so silent? "Frizzie Head"

A Menace to Health

Kidney trouble is an insidious danger, and many people are victims of a serious malady before the symptoms are recognized. Foley's Kidney cure corrects irregularities and strengthens and builds up the kidneys, and it should be taken at the first indication of Kidney trouble, as it is impossible to have good health if the kidneys are deranged. Sold by the Red Cross Drug Store.

Hillsboro

Gabe Sweeney, a merchant at Atokia, is visiting his sister Mrs. Jessie Thomas at this place,

Mrs. J. D. Sutherland is quite sick with la gripp at this writing.

H. H. Hickerson, wife and little daughter Maggie of near Mackville, visited the family of Thos Sutherland Sunday.

Mrs. Lucinda McIlvoy, who has been in Illinois with her daughter, Mrs. Davis Crow, for several months has returned and will make her home with her son Tom.

We are glad to report Uncle Collie Settles who has been dangerously ill for several days some better. The physician now entertains hopes of his recovery

Sam Montgomery and J. M. Shields have returned from the city where they sold their tobacco Friday at an average of 9c.

The recent pleasant days have been very much like Spring. The farmers have already begun to make arrangements for tobacco bed burning and plowing and we hear of one woman preparing to put out her garden. We are going to have an unusual early spring so say some of our good weather prophets If things so continue we may be able to report some corn planted in our next letter, but these people must remember that cold February and windy march are yet to come,

Dogs broke into the flock of sheep of Osly Tumey and killed 16 out of 19. We learn that the owner of the dogs has offered to pay for the sheep.

The public school at this place has not yet been contracted for, but there are several who would like to be the lucky one in securing the trustees consent but we heard one of them say the other day that the school would not be let out before spring and this would give anyone who might desire to teach the school a chance to present their claims. There has been so many moving in the district that it will be a first class school this year instead of a second class one as it has been for several years. We learn that Miss Merritt will be here this week to make a Spring school. We trust she will be successful,

Marion Baxter, a horse trader of near Brooksville, was on the creek last week for that special purpose, but the far sighted horse jockeys along Pony Creek made it so unpleasant for him that he will next time try his luck elsewhere. The proprietors here seem to be doing a good business, but just how much silver and gold they are daying back we do not know, but we heard one say that it was likely that the buzzards would not be hungry this Spring that happened to pass this way.

We were glad to see that interesting letter from Mackville last week and hope they will continue to appear each week. We were glad to see Fenwick represented for there should not be an issue without an letter from that city. One can stand on the corner of Main and Buffalo St and get news items with what Mayor Kelley would furnish in one half hour to fill two columns. Then dont fail to come each week

W. E. Sutherland sold to the firm of Settles & Montgomery 9 hogs for 5c per pound,

W. C. Dudgeon, one of our popular young men that left here some time ago because there was not enough love gossips afloat to suit him with the intentions of trying life in the city, will return here this week. He says; "there is no place so dear as Hillsboro.

There is quite a talk about the dog law that now seems to be almost a go and most all are opposed to it. There will be quite a slaughter of dogs out this way and chicken roost will be left unguarded and garments will have full sway. The blood of the many innocent dogs that will be killed when the law goes into effect will rest upon who? We think that ever home should be entitled to one dog without paying tax on it but we will have to abide by it and scuffle up the coin to pay for our dogs or else see the killing. It would be far better for the Legislature to pass the Brown bill, requiring taxes to be paid before one could vote, then fooling time away with the dog law. Every one that we have heard express himself is heartily in favor of Mr. Brown's bill and hopes for it to become a law.

By the help of an old citizen who was living near the Perryville battle field at the time of the fight we are going to write in the near future some reminiscents of the battle, Guerrilla raids and Home Guard fights and other war incidents in this county. We may be able to get up a story of a giant that once lived here in the long, ago. Let every one along R. F. D. No. 3 become a reader of the News-Leader so they can help us in gathering up facts about these times. If will be all right with the editor we guess, Curious Almshouse.

The most curious almshouse in England is St. Mary's hospital at Chichester. There eight old ladies live actually in the church, which is a fine old building dating from 1080. It was originally a monastery, but when Queen Elizabeth came to visit there she turned it into an almshouse to endure as long as almshouses exist. The old ladies have two neat little rooms each down the sides of the main church, with windows looking out on the garden. They have each a coal supply, a kitchen range, water and gas. At one end of the church is the chapel, where daily services are held. The choir stalls are beautifully carved old oak, the original seats that the monks used. The church stands in a quiet little square.

Too Serious.

While a great many persons probably take themselves too seriously, entertaining an altogether exaggerated opinion of their ability and worth, not many nowadays go to the extreme length of the German whom the English poet Coleridge met at Frankfort. He always took off his hat when he ventured to speak of himself. Were this practice to become general what a number of people would be permanently bareheaded!

Boarding a Hansom.

Have you ever noticed the right way to get into a hansom when two people are riding? Few persons know what to do. In nine cases out of ten the one who enters first seats himself on the off side. But this is wrong. If, on getting in first, you take the near seat your companion can then enter in ease and comfort, which otherwise he could not.

To Waterproof Canvas.

Scientific American gives this recipe for waterproofing for canvas: Soft soap dissolved in hot water and a solution of iron sulphate added. The sulphuric acid combines with the potash of the soap and the iron oxide is precipitated with the fatty acid as insoluble iron soap. This is washed and dried and mixed with linseed oil.

Masculine.

Mrs. Hix—Mrs. June strikes me as being entirely too masculine for a woman. Mrs. Dix—Yes, indeed. Why, every time she has an ache or a pain she makes as much fuss about it as a man would.

Marriage in Korea.

There is not much difficulty in marrying off a daughter in Korea. Where there are defects, such as feeble health, paralysis, deformities, etc., an expert intermediary who knows how to conceal them is employed. It is her business to make the girl presentable to the parents of the suitor. As the bridegroom does not see the bride until the day of marriage, when it is too late to recoil, he is obliged to make the best of the situation. In marrying Korean girls are not exempt from contributing to the support of the family. This applies to the grande dame as well as the humblest peasant. Ladies of rank who have become impoverished and are obliged to support themselves may earn a livelihood by knitting or rearing silkworms.

A Mother's Command.

William Brookfield, the English divine, used to tell this story: "The new bishop of New Zealand in a farewell and pathetic interview with his mother after his appointment was thus addressed by her in such sequence as sobs and tears would permit: 'I suppose they will eat you, my dear. I try to think otherwise, but I suppose they will. Well, we will leave it in the hands of Providence. But, if they do, mind, my dear, and disagree with them.'"

Propriety and Clothes.

The Hindus of Lanna surpass those of all other nations in retiring modesty, for they not only hide their faces, but walk about under a small tent, which requires the assistance of a servant to carry it. It is not surprising to hear that they have a very bad reputation for propriety, for in Africa female respectability is in inverse ration to the quality of clothes worn.—Eliot's "East Africa."

Poisoned by Poke Root

News comes of the narrow escape from death of Della and Nellie, little daughters of Mr Joe Burkhead a well-known farmer of the Tatham Springs neighborhood. Mrs. Burkhead it seems had gathered some roots of the poke berry bush from which she intended to make a decoction to feed to her chickens as a tonic. She carelessly laid the roots which are poisonous in a place to which the children had access and the two little ones, before their mother was aware of their danger had found and had eaten some of the deathly root. They were soon deadly sick and it took vigorous work and the administering of strong emetics to bring the little ones around. It was several hours before they were pronounced out of danger.

His home has been in Louisville since 1866. He leaves a wife and two grown sons and many friends who will remember him as a kind hearted Christian gentleman. He was 67 years old. Besides Mr. I. L. Political Gossip

The Frankfort correspondent of the Courier-Journal has been indulging in some political speculation and gossip concerning the congressional races. He has the following to say concerning two of Washington county's politicians: "An interesting situation prevails in the Fourth district. T. Scott Mayes is an avowed candidate. What Congressman Dave Smith will do he has not yet made public. Some of those who want to run seem to think that Mr. Smith had decided two years ago not to run after this term expired. It seems apparent that he has not decided finally either to run or not to run. Senator Harry Lancaster who is Mr. Smith's secretary said he had no positive information as to Mr. Smith's intentions. It is understood, however, that Mr. Mayes will be a candidate whether Mr. Smith is or not.

Will D. Claybrooke, Washington county's representative in the Legislature, has been mentioned, but he will not make the race. He will probably be for Mr. Mayes if he runs. It is altogether likely that he will be a candidate for the Senate next time, it being Washington's time to name the candidate.

A Striking Fact.

A young man was riding in the cab with a locomotive engineer.

"Now," said the young man, shuddering, "suppose a stray load of children were to glide on to the track from that line—what a blessing it would then be if you could stop short, instantly, like a man walking!"

"Blessing?" said the engineer. "Why, young fellow, if that stage you speak of were to appear now, and I could stop short like a man walking, I wouldn't do it. Instead, I'd keep right on and kill the kids."

"Why?"

"Because it would be the more humane course. In one case there would be a stage load of kids slaughtered; in the other case there would be the slaughter of a trainload of people. This train is going at the rate of forty-five miles an hour, and the sudden stoppage of a train going at that rate would give the passengers precisely the same shock that they would get from a fall of fifty-four feet—a fall from a housetop."

Preparing For the Storm.

A correspondent in the north of Ireland sends the following account of an interesting incident that came under his observation:

Being on a walking tour through Inishowen and passing along the edge of Lough Swilly, the romantic Lake of Shadows, he noticed an immense gathering of rooks on the sandy shore. In company with several others, the tourist was attracted by this novel spectacle and began to wonder at the cause of it. An old man who was working in a field near the place offered an explanation. He said that the birds were picking up sand to ballast themselves in that it was when they did so it was a sure sign of approaching bad weather. He added that on shooting rooks after a gathering of the sort he had found that they were loaded with sand. As a matter of fact, the gentleman concludes, a violent gale set in early next morning.—Pearson's Weekly.

The Spider's Web.

If we compare the dimensions of the spider with those of its web we are forced to admit that the little creature is a true engineer, able to construct a cable network of relatively enormous size. Thread after thread is put in position in the desired and necessary order, and sometimes prolonged observation on the part of the investigator is required in order to understand the reasons which direct the spider in its complicated operations, and which make it always follow the same order and the same laws. Some of these reasons are explained by geometry, others by the strength of materials, and he who succeeds in discovering the "why" of all the interesting details of the method employed is compelled to admit to himself that he could not have achieved so good a result with the same materials.

Poor Richard.

"In December of the year 1732," says Bigelow's "Life of Franklin," "Franklin commenced the publication of what he styled 'Poor Richard's Almanac,' price 5vepence. It attained an astonishing popularity, and at once. Three editions were sold within the month of its appearance. The average sale for twenty-five years was 10,000 a year. He was sometimes obliged to put it to press in October to get a supply of copies to the remote colonies by the beginning of the year. It has been translated into nearly if not quite every written language, and several different translations of it have been made into the French and the German. It contains some of the best fun as well as the wisest counsel that ever emanated from his pen."

China's Flag.

Then and Now.

"When old Elndger came to this town twenty-five years ago," said the man in the mackintosh, "everything he had in the world was on his back."

"And now?" queried the man who had his feet on the table.

"Well, his wife and six daughters have relieved him of the burden. They carry it all on their backs now."—Chicago Tribune.

Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased.

Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, fifty-cent and one dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also pamphlet telling all about it. Including many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers cured. In writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure and mention this paper.

ELEPHANTS LUMBERING.

They Were Not Only Doing Man's Work, but Doing It Man's Way.

The elephants round us were dragging the logs to the mill to be sawed. They were harnessed for this with a broad breast band and heavy chains. A native looped the chains round the logs, and the elephant started off with them and deposited them on the trolley. Others were picking up the sawed planks with their trunks and carrying them across the yard to be piled.

A mahout sat on the neck of every elephant, and if the animal picked up too small a plank the mahout would hit it with his iron spike, that two might go to that load. Then, grunting, the elephant would pick up the second with infinite delicacy of balance, turn round once and deposit them beside the pile, always returning for another load so long as there were any of what he styled "Poor Richard's Almanac," price 5vepence. It attained as astonishing popularity, and at once. Three editions were sold within the month of its appearance. The average sale for twenty-five years was 10,000 a year. After the Refutation.

The Baby Beetle's Cradle.

If at this time any time of the year we walk through the woods where the red, scarlet, black or pin oaks are growing—that is, where we find those that ripen their acorns in two seasons and therefore belong to the pin oak group—we shall probably find on the ground fallen branches that vary in size from that of a lead pencil to that of one's thumb or even larger. These at the broken end appear as if cut away within the wood, so that only a thin portion is left under the bark. Within the rather uneven cut, generally near the center of the growth, is a small hole tightly plugged by the "powder post" of a beetle larva. Split open the branch or twig, when a burrow will be seen, and the little, white, soft, hard jawed larva that made it will be found or perhaps the inactive pupa.

A Russian Bear Story.

Here is an old hunting tale from Russia: A certain count was out for bears and, tracking a dam and cubs, shot one of the latter, had it stuffed, and his sleigh and drove for home, about fifty miles distant. Immediately after his arrival his gamekeeper announced that a huge bear had scaled the wall of the park. The count went out and shot it—the dam of the cub which he had killed and brought home! The faithful creature had followed her dead offspring those fifty miles at the same pace as relays of post horses and arrived in time to share the fate of her cub and to have a monument erected where she fell.

Mercury and the Sun.

The distance of Mercury from the sun varies owing to the eccentricity of its orbit. When he is nearest to the sun he receives ten and a half times more light and heat than we do, but when he removes to his greatest distance the light and heat are reduced by more than one-half. Even then, however, the sun blazes in the skies of Mercury with a disk four and a half times larger than that which he shows to us on earth.

On Other Nights.

Mr. Goodthing—How does your sister like the engagement ring I gave her, Bobby? Her Young Brother—Well, it's a little too small. She has an awful hard time getting it off when the other fellows call.—Exchange.

And Original Lovers' Leap.

Sappho's Leap was the name given to a white cliff or promontory ancient-ly called Leucadia, now Cape Ducato, at the southern extremity of Santa Maura, one of the Ionian Islands. It was so called because Sappho, the poetess, is reported to have thrown herself from this height into the sea. A criminal, with birds attached to him to break his fall, was thrown from the cliff at the annual festival of Apollo, and if he reached the water unhurt he was picked up by boats placed there for that purpose. This is the rock from which, according to the story, lovers threw themselves in order to be free from the pangs of love.

Three Things Desired.

As a result of observation and reflection during a long life touching public men and measures in wide variety I would desire for my country three things above all others to supplement American civilization: From Great Britain, her administration of criminal justice; from Germany, her theater, and from any or every European country save Russia, Spain and Turkey, its government of cities.—Andrew D. White in Century.

Why He wanted a rip.

"At a certain Swiss hotel," said an American tourist, "when I got ready to go I tipped everybody who had waited on me to the slightest extent and was ready to drive off when an individual appeared and asked if I had forgotten his existence.

"'And what did you do for me?' I asked.

"'I am the undertaker in the canton,' he replied.

"'But, thank heaven, I have not needed your services.'

"That is not my fault, monsieur. For two weeks have I been ready to patch up your mangled remains and send them on to your friends with my condolence, and yet you have refused to go up on the mountain and meet with a fall. It is not for what I have done, but for what I should like to have done.'"

The Feather In Her Cap.

Mrs. Bridey—I know you'll be pleased to hear this. I think I'll be able to save a little on our household expenses this week. Mr. Bridey—Well, dear, that will be a feather in your cap. Mrs. Bridey (eagerly)—An ostrich feather?—Philadelphia Press.

The Woman Without a Home.

A woman advanced in life without a home and without occupation is a picture without a frame. A home of her very own is what every woman craves whose impulses have not been vitiated by a false motive in life. Despite the multiplication of boarding houses and the allurements of private apartments in well conducted flats, love of home is as inherent in woman's nature as the instinct of nest building in bird nature. It is all the better if there is a congenial husband to share it, but home and happiness for a woman are inseparable.

Old Walnut Furniture.

If you have any old walnut furniture keep it by all means. It is becoming rarer and more valuable all the time. Most of the pieces are ugly, because when walnut was in fashion taste was at a low ebb. An old bureau, table or chest of drawers may be made a thing of beauty with a little expenditure. In the first place the wood must be scraped of its disfiguring varnish and brass or glass knobs put on. Some pieces may have to be entirely remade, but this is frequently done with mahogany and other valuable woods.

Be Stylish.

It is the duty of every woman to make the best of herself. The question is how to do it, and, unfortunately, many fail. It is no good to be beautiful and have no style. A plain woman can often carry all before her. If she achieves style she is very apt to leave an ordinarily pretty woman miles behind. What is meant by a simple word as is generally one who develops, says the London Queen, her good points, with due regard to the fashions and the modes of the moment.

A Dry Salt Bath.

That salt possesses tonic qualities is well known, but it has remained for a woman suffering from nervous prostration to use a dry sea salt rub with beneficial results. She soaks a coarse wash cloth in a strong solution of the sea salt, then dries it. After her cold bath of a morning she wipes off the moisture with a towel, then rubs with the salty wash cloth till her skin is in a glow. She says she has found this to be far more invigorating than the more usual bath in salt water.

The Child's Room.

In the endeavor to secure beauty in the home it should never be forgotten that the room of every child should be made attractive with pretty colors and rare photographs, so that on waking and on going to sleep the first and last sensation may be of pleasantness, and that the mother's room, which is, after all, the principal room of the house, should be rendered memorable with its loveliness and its aspect of peace.—Success.

Red Polled Cattle.

Red polled cattle eat all kinds of fodder, never losing appetite, says American Agriculturist. Mature bulls weigh 1,800 to 2,000 pounds, and sometimes as high as 2,800 pounds. Mature cows weigh 1,100 to 1,600 pounds, the average being about 1,200 pounds or over. They mature early and make the best beef.

The Vicious Brood Sow.

The brood sow that is vicious and breechy or that eats chickens should be sent to the butcher as soon as fat enough, says Farmer's Advocate. It doesn't pay at all to risk grown people, much less children, being chewed up by them, and a chicken eating hog will soon destroy her worth of chickens if given opportunity.

Spinning an Egg.

Did you ever try to spin an egg? All you have to do is to boil the egg hard and twirl it in your fingers. Then try to spin it on its side. In this you will fail, as the egg will stand and spin on its large end.

A Shabby Bedroom.

A good way to completely transform a bedroom when the furniture has become old and shabby is to give every thing a coat of enamel paint. White is always pretty for a sleeping room, and a dainty room can be made by having all the furniture, woodwork, picture frames and doors painted with white enamel. Get a pretty little rose bud spotted muslin and of it make bedspread, dresser covers, curtains and cushion covers. You will find that with very little trouble and small expense you will have a bower so dainty that [illegible] every eye.

"SAVED MY LIFE"

—That's what a prominent druggist said of Scott's Emulsion a short time ago. As a rule we don't use or refer to testimonials in addressing the public, but the above remark and similar expressions are made so often in connection with Scott's Emulsion that they are worthy of occasional note. From infancy to old age Scott's Emulsion offers a reliable means of remedying improper and weak development, restoring lost flesh and vitality, and repairing waste. The action of Scott's Emulsion is no more of a secret than the composition of the Emulsion itself. What it does it does through nourishment—the kind of nourishment that cannot be obtained in ordinary food. No system is too weak or delicate to retain Scott's Emulsion and gather good from it.

What He Resembled.

Some years ago William T. Smedley boarded in the same house with a young man who prided himself on his likeness to the artist, though, truth to tell, he was very plain, while Mr. Smedley was quite handsome, says the New York Times. One morning at breakfast he turned to Mr. Smedley and said:

"Do you know, I am thought very like you?"

"Indeed," was the answer, "I cannot see any resemblance."

"Well, give me a good look now and tell me who I am like."

The artist looked at him steadily for a few moments and then replied:

"You look only like the boarding house martyr at the steak."

No Cause For Worry.

"Labor saving inventions never do any real harm to laboring men and women," said Professor S. P. Langley, the scientist and aeronaut. "They who bemoan the appearance of labor saving devices are unwise."

Professor Langley smiled.

"Such unphilosophical persons," he resumed, "should learn a lesson from the stable cat. Have you heard of the stable cat? It sat on the horse's back."

"Dear, dear," the horse wailed. 'Now that automobiles are coming into use I fear I shan't be wanted.'

"'Nonsense,' said the stable cat. 'Don't carry on so, brother. The more trap didn't do away with hay, did it?'"

A Way Out.

Mrs. Hiram Offen—See here, Marie, the dishes you have put on the table of late have been positively dirty. Some thing's got to be done about it. Marie—True for ye, ma'am. If ye only had dark colored ones, ma'am, they would not show the dirt at all.—Philadelphia Press.

Cash and Charges.

Quizness—Which do you prefer, to sell for cash or charge things? Business—Cash, of course. But if they don't pay promptly, then I prefer charges.—Baltimore American.

Hens Need Animal Food.

Animal food is a necessity for the growing stock. The most convenient way of supplying it is to use animal meal in the mash or meat scrap in a self feeder. If the former is used it should not exceed 10 per cent of the total weight of the mash; for very young chicks 5 per cent is enough.

Breeding Draft Fillies.

French, English and Scotch farmers and horse breeders generally breed their draft fillies at two years old, and by generous treatment they develop good large size at three, when they have a colt and they have learned to work and earn their keep.—National Stockman.

Soft.

"Yes," he declared, "I think one grows to be like the things he eats."

"You must have been brought up on marshmallows," she suggested.—Chicago Record-Herald.

Christmas Superstitions.

There are many Christmas superstitions long held as articles of faith that are to be recalled—how that oxen kneel in their stalls at midnight on Christmas eve in adoration of the Nativity and for one hour have the power of speech; for that one hour, too, the lost spirits have rest. Judas sleeps, Herod ceases to clank his chains, the daughter of Herodias may pause in the dance in which she is condemned to spin forever, and Pilate's ghost ceases its wanderings on Mount Pilatus. It was believed, too, that the sound of church bells could be heard wherever a church had stood, though no trace remain, and that on that pregnant night one sleeping in a manger would see his future in a vision.—Country Life in America.

Just What He Meant.

An American in London once attended a dinner where Henry Arthur Jones told a story about Beerbohm Tree.

"Mr. Tree," said the playwright, "met a friend of his one afternoon in Regent street.

"The two stood and conversed a little while, and then Mr. Tree said:

"'Have you been down to see me act lately, my boy?'

"'No; too poor,' said the other.

"'Too poor,' Mr. Tree exclaimed. 'Why, you spend enough on wine and cigars'—

"But the other, nettled, interrupted.

"'I don't mean I'm too poor. I mean you're too poor,' he said."

Dressing Is an Art.

Cultivate dress as a fine art, for minute attention to personal adornment and elegance of toilet is the duty of every man or woman in civilized society. It is the outward show that enables the world to judge of us personally, our character, refinement and condition, of the station of life in which we are thrown. It is a duty we owe our family, our friends and the world at large. It is the passport to good breeding and the support of fine manners.

His View.

"I wonder," said Mrs. Bickers, who was in an unusually amiable mood, "if the Russians and Japanese will really fight to the bitter end."

"I don't know why they should," snarled Mr. Bickers. "They're not married."—Chicago Inter Ocean.

The Stable Door.

On some farms the doorways of horse stables are old style and too narrow for a large horse easily and safely to pass through. It is noticeable that some horses will rush through a doorway very quickly. They probably have been hurt sometimes or received a knock that is not forgotten. Better put in a wider stable door and show the horse he is not going to be hurt.

The Farm Home.

If you have a farm, go to work and make a home out of it. Do not be digging for dollars all the time, but put in a good part of the time in making your home as it should be. Make the house convenient for the wife and have a home which you are not ashamed to call your own.

A Handy Wagon.

Every farmer ought to have a low-down platform wagon arranged so that crated sides can be put on, for the removal of animals, dead or alive. In this way live calves can be transported comfortably, not being jostled about as is the case in boxes.—Farm Journal.

The Kind She Liked.

Von Blumer—Write a love letter to my wife and I'll sign it.

Clerk—What amount?—Smart Set.

His Opposite.

She—They say that persons of opposite qualities make the happiest marriages. He—That's why I'm looking for a girl with money.

Sensational Price for a Limited Time $3.00

We are very fortunate in being able to arrange with the publishers of these three well known magazines to offer a subscription for the coming year at this sensational price. We have decided to let our readers have the full advantage of the reduction and to cut the price of the NEWS LEADER as well, in order to get quickly a large body of paid in advance subscribers.

You ask how is this offer possible if the three magazines have a fixed value and are not like the commodities usually offered at bargain prices.

THE EXPLANATION

It is well known to every one in business that in fixing a selling price there must be added to the manufacturing cost the cost of marketing. The cost of marketing a magazine is a big item, and these three publishing houses decided to unify their efforts to get new readers, making one organization do the work, and divide the cost of marketing by three. That is why this year you can buy three magazines that fit the needs of every home for half price.

The Review of Reviews

Many other publications are desirable, and you may prefer this or prefer that fiction and art publication, but the Review of Reviews is necessary. Substantial American men and women are going to keep up with the times and they are going to take the shortest cut—which is the Review of Reviews. Twelve hundred pictures a year; departments giving the best that is in all the other important magazines all over the world; timely and informing articles, almost as fresh and full of news interest as a daily paper; and Dr. Albert Shaw's interpretation of the public men, events and issues of the month, in "The Progress of the World."

The Cosmopolitan

A leading magazine for eighteen years. With the recent change of ownership it has been improved. It is far better in every respect, and aims to be the best in its field. Every year or so there's one notable advance in the forward movement among the many magazines. This year it is the Cosmopolitan. And this shall be a splendid permanent success. Its gains in news-stand sales and in subscriptions have been remarkable. And these are due only to the new life and real merit. The Cosmopolitan is printing WHAT THE PEOPLE WANT. It contains regularly the best fiction, best special articles on timely topics and best illustrations that money can buy.

Woman's Home Companion

The Woman's Home Companion is for every member of the family. For our bright, earnest, cultured, home-loving American it is an ideal entertainer and helper in a thousand congenial ways; but the fathers and brothers and sons join in its perusal by the fireside, and the children eagerly turn to the pages that are written for them.

The issues for the forthcoming year will be unique in conception and execution, rich and varied in contents, and brilliant with the finest, most elaborate and artistic illustrations obtainable.

Don't wait; the offer is good for new and renewal subscriptions. Arrange for your magazin reading now. You are really getting the NEWS LEADER FREE and still saving money on your magazines by accepting this offer, so great is the reduction.

Your name accompanied with $3 entitles you to this special price if order is sent in at once.
